

TIA RAPID ASSESSMENT CLINICS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Through support from the BCSS, a number of new TIA Rapid Assessment Clinics were established or expanded across the province. These clinics provide important tests and rapid intervention and management to greatly reduce the risk of an acute stroke, which can occur soon after a TIA. Below is a brief description of existing clinics and contact information for referrals. As more clinics are established, this information will be updated and added to the BCSS website at www.bcstrokestrategy.ca and to HealthLinkBC.

FRASER HEALTH AUTHORITY		AS OF NOVEMBER 2009
Operates a network of three regional TIA Rapid Access Clinics. Patients meet with a neurologist and nurse, who specialize in stroke prevention. Together, a thorough neurological assessment is provided, and referrals for further testing or specialist consultations given. Patients also learn more on how to reduce their risk of stroke.
